Board and Committee Structure

Board of Directors

The Board of Directors is comprised of a dedicated group of parents, relatives and supporters who help guide the CdLS Foundation. Members are tasked with providing oversight of Foundation activities, assets and strategic planning. They make decisions in the best interest of the Foundation and those it serves.

The Board also ensures that the organization is compliant with applicable laws, acts in accordance with ethical practices, and engages in activities that advance its mission. Essentially, the Board has a strategic function in providing the vision, mission and goals of the organization.

Committees

Committees are responsible for planning and overseeing the CdLS Foundation's numerous programs and services, as well as administrative functions and operations. Each committee works in partnership with a staff liaison to create program proposals and budgets, which are presented to the Board of Directors annually.

Committees also monitor projects throughout the year and address any issues that may come up. Members of committees are volunteers—typically parents or relatives of someone with CdLS—who have experience and/or interest in the topics addressed in the committees. For example, the Finance Committee has accountants and the Public Affairs Committee has marketing professionals.
